

COVELL GREENBELT DISC GOLF COURSE GUIDE

Davis Covell Greenbelt

The Davis Covell Greenbelt is a beautiful system of parkway that weaves through the neighborhoods of North Davis, CA. Much of the greenbelt resembles a golf course fairway so there are naturally endless options for creating holes for disc golf. The purpose of this guide is simply to create another way to enjoy the area.

Course Design and Guide Use

- The Covell Greenbelt Disc Golf Course is a fairly long course (about 1.5 miles) and the back nine unfortunately does not start where the front nine begins. Some holes have up to a 200 yard distance between them. You might consider using a bike as a 'golf cart' if you want to play the course at a quicker pace. The course generally takes around 1.5 to 2 hours to play depending on the size and speed of your group.
- A variety of preexisting landmarks such as lamps, benches, trees, bridges, and hills are used as starting points. The location of these landmarks are described using north, south, east, and west so you might find it helpful to use a compass the first couple times playing the course. You'll definitely want to have a copy of the course map and course hole guide as well. These should be used in conjunction with each other.
- All holes except Hole 16 end with a lamp post. This was done so the holes could easily be identified and also so the course could be played at night, though using a headlamp and light colored disc is recommended.

- Lamps containing signs are named by their sign on the course hole guide. Lamps without signs are given numbers and described adjacent to other landmarks.
- The greenbelt is filled with pedestrians. Some holes may contain more pedestrian traffic than others and may even require a "spotter" to check for oncomers. Some holes present a greater risk of losing your disc. Use the course hole guide to identify potentially hazardous holes.
- The best time to play the Covell Greenbelt is weekdays between the hours of 10am and 4pm. This is when you'll find the greenbelt to be most empty. The course may also be played at night but be careful not to lose your disc!

Course Rules and Etiquette

- A hole is won by hitting the ending object anywhere with your disc.
- If your disc hits the ground before hitting the ending object, the hole is still won.
- Starting points can be anywhere within a 2 meter radius of the starting object.
- Once in the fairway, no foot may be placed in front of your lie upon release of your disc.
- Some holes start where the previous hole ended. If you are playing behind another group, please don't toss your disc until the group ahead of you has finished "teeing off" for the next hole.
- If your disc lands in a tree or bush two meters off the ground, take one penalty toss and take your lie as close to the original lie as possible. Discs stuck below two meters do not incur a penalty stroke.
- All playgrounds, bodies of water, and private yards are out of bounds. If your disc lands out of bounds, take one penalty toss and take your lie one meter outside of the area designated out of bounds.
- The Covell Greenbelt is filled with walkers, jogger, bikers, and skateboarders. Please be courteous by not tossing your disc if there is any possibility they could be hit.

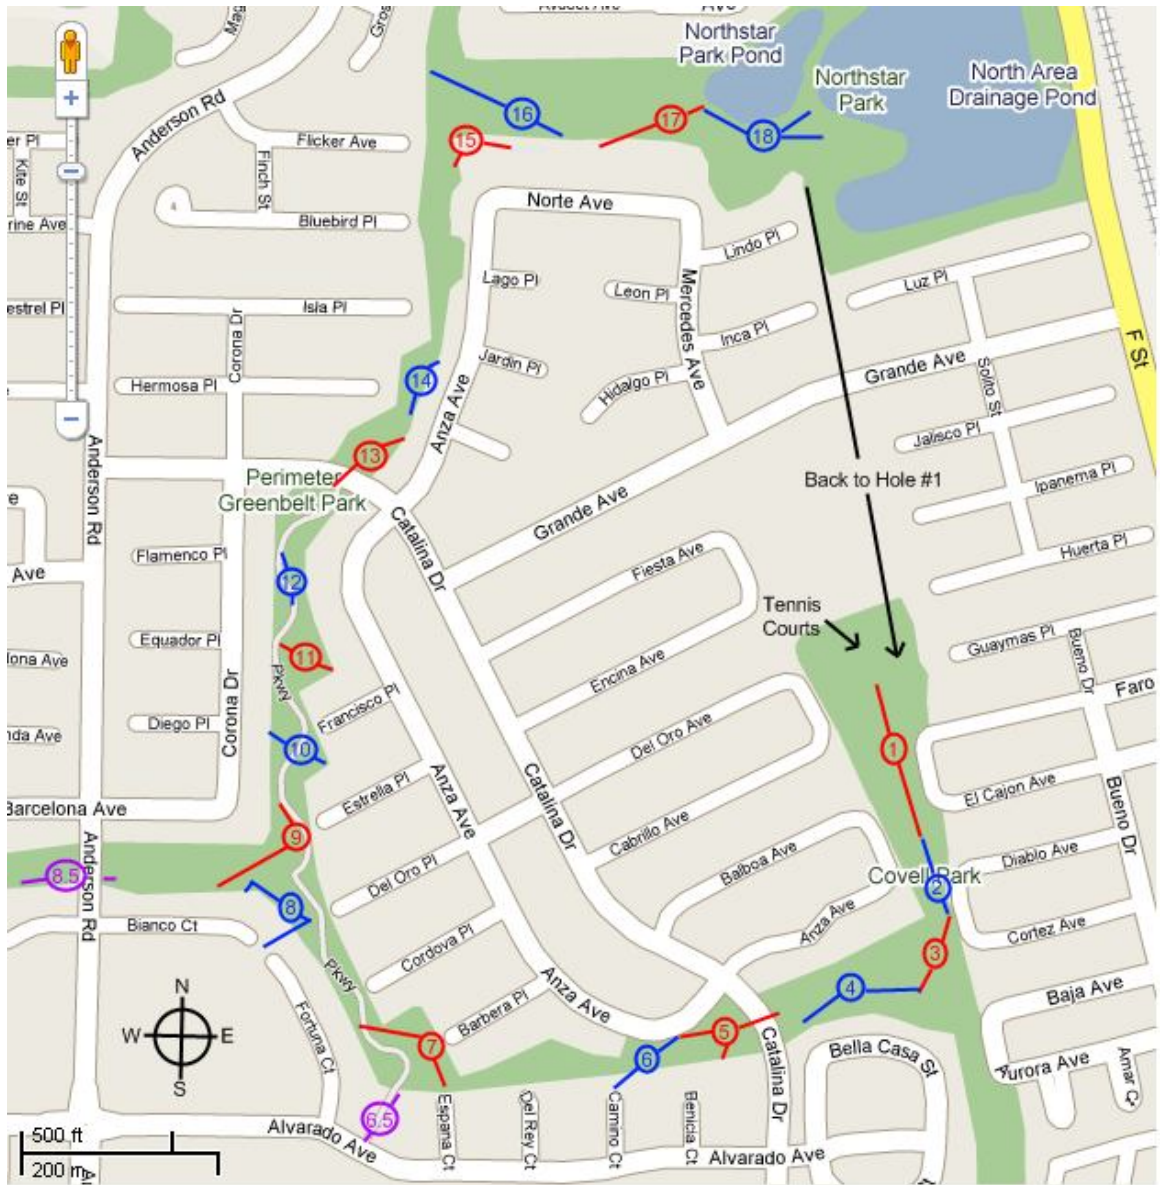

Course Access

The most convenient access to the course by car is to park along the '200' block of Grande Ave. (between Solito Street and Mercedes Ave). Park west of the zebra crossing on the south side of Grande (on the north end of the vacant lot). This will situated you between the beginning of Hole 1 and the end of Hole 18. More public parking may be found at the north parking lot of Davis Community Park. Enter the greenbelt by heading north over Covell Blvd. on the pedestrian bridge.
