The Hahndorf Allotments Database

Hahndorf residents have the unusual distinction of living in a place with the most complicated town plan in South Australia. In one respect, Hahndorf's history tells of its change from a complex medieval Prussian hufendorf design to a standard regulated plan under Torrens Titles. By a great co-incidence, Ulrich Huebbe, the person who devised the world-first Torrens Titles system for use in South Australia, is buried in Hahndorf's public cemetery on Pine Avenue.

Early Hahndorf

Reg Butler, the town historian and a descendant of five of the original fifty-four founding families, has navigated through the complex shoals of Hahndorf's land ownership over many year's research in the South Australian Lands Titles Office. This has come together with this history of land ownership for every allotment in Hahndorf from 1839 to modern times.

It is readily available for residents and visitors alike to consult, so that anyone interested will thus be able to ponder how any particular contemporary site has developed from its original purpose as a house, farm or seed allotment.

Possible uses for the Database include:

Family History, Land Use Changes, Land Ownership Changes, Building Data, Streetscape Reconstruction for particular periods, Allotment Subdivision History, Creative Writing, Biography.

It is not intended that land ownership details will be continuously updated from that currently included in the Database as this information is readily available from the South Australian Land Titles Office. However, the Database will be enhanced over time with additional information including photographs and other appropriate information.

Any additional information and/or corrections to the Database would be appreciated and should be submitted to Reg Butler [phone: (08) 8388 7046].

Sub-lot 2: 14 Willow End - 3600/32 current title. Sub-lot 3: 10 Willow End - 3600/31 current title.  One of Hahndorf's 'difficult' allotments. No official land title exists for it before 1948, when Andrew Thiele applied for ownership under 'adverse possession' - his father JO Thiele had used and occupied the property since c1905 on the testimony of life-long Hahndorf resident BE Haebich. The 1839-1907 sequence is a likely devolvement of ownership based on the other Thiele allotments in Hahndorf. 'The said land has for many years been known as Thiele's, and...used for grazing the applicant's cows...and the fences have been kept in repair by the applicant.'
